Positive Behavioural Support

Information for service users and carers

A member of staff or a carer can support you to read this booklet. They will be able to answer any questions that you have.

Who are we?

The Positive Behavioural Support pathway is a group of people trained to work with adults with learning disabilities who are at risk of behaving in ways that distress themselves or challenge others.

We also work with families and carers to change the supports around a person so they no longer need to resort to challenging others.

What do we do?

We try and get everyone to work together to understand why someone is upset and to improve a person's quality of life.

We undertake Functional Behavioural Assessment to help with this.

To do this we may need to talk to you and to other people.

How will we help?

We can...

Talk about what is important to you.

Talk to you about what you want to change.

Gather information from others who know you best.

Ask you or others to write down what happens each day. This will help us to understand your behaviour.

Together we will write a plan called a Behaviour Support Plan. This will help you and others to change situations that lead to distress and help you learn new ways of meeting your needs. We will check what you need to make the plan work and make sure everyone understands it, can deliver it and can keep you safe.
